Any member from either team can answer the question, however, the member must first press the buzzer and be recognized by the Quizmaster.
5. During toss up play, every 5th question will be awarded a bonus question. Should neither team get the answer correct, the bonus question will not be asked.
6. The Quizmaster will read the question until: a) the question is complete b) a contestant buzzes in contestant from that team will now be able to buzz in and answer the question. 9. In case of a tie, there will be 3 additional questions asked, the first team to answer 2 of the 3 correctly will win the match. If after those 3 questions one team has answered one correctly and the other two questions are considered dead, that team will win. OR If those three questions do not produce a winner (both teams answer one correctly with the third question being considered dead), questions will continue in a sudden death format with the next correct answer winning the match.

10. During the contest all members participating will be placed in a separate holding room with NO electronics allowed in.
